

ABOUT THE PENSION RIGHTS CENTER

For more than three decades, the Pension Rights Center has promoted retirement security for all Americans by protecting the pension rights of workers, retirees, and their families and seeking solutions to the nation's pension problems.

The Center has:

- Acted as a consumer watchdog to preserve key protections;
- Secured the adoption of a dozen federal laws and regulations;
- Helped thousands of people obtain wrongfully denied pensions;
- Authored numerous publications to explain complex rules; and
- Served as an indispensable resource for the media.

The Center has an unparalleled reputation for credibility, hard work, and an untiring commitment to economic justice.

The Center's Pension Help activities make sure that people receive the retirement benefits they have earned.

The Center's Pension Policy activities identify shortcomings in the nation's retirement programs, and develop proposals for realistic reforms.

The Center's Pension Action initiatives help grassroots groups campaign to end unfair pension practices and advocate for cost-of-living adjustments.

The Center's Pension Publications provide easy-to-understand explanations of complex pension laws and policies.

*"Every day for the past 30 years, the Pension Rights Center has been the voice of the voiceless."
Representative George Miller Chair, U.S. House Committee on Education and the Workforce, Congressional Record Statement on the Center's 30th Anniversary.*
